WAS REVELATION SAYS POLICEMAN

Popular Philadelphia Traffic Officer Gains 20 Pounds and Enjoys Fine Health Now.

"Yes, sir, Tantac was a revelation to me. It gave me an appetite of a bear and I am 20 pounds heavier since taking it," said Frederick A. Gordon, Reserve Officer Number Seventy-one of the Philadelphia police force, and one of the most popular traffic officers in the city.

"I wasn't what would be called sick exactly when I began taking Tantac, but I had lost my appetite and was having trouble digesting the little I did force myself to eat. I wasn't getting my full share of sleep, either, due to nervousness, and I also had frequent attacks of headaches.

"It's a rule of my life to keep fit, so when I heard so many people talking about Tantac I gave it a trial. Just two bottles did the work for me. I never was in better condition in my life than I am right now. I eat anything, never have a sign of indigestion and sleep like a top. There doesn't seem to be any tired in my make-up now, and I can keep on the go for hours, and feel fit and fine every minute.

Tantac was worth to me a hundred times what I paid for it."

Tantac is sold in Connellsville by the Connellsville Drug Co. and by the leading druggists everywhere.—Advertisement.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, DEC. 21, 1921.

SHOULD BE NO HOME WITHOUT THIS CHRISTMAS.

Engrossed as many of us have been with our preparations to remember friends at Christmas we ought not to forget that we have other claims through which to send the season's cheer into homes which might otherwise know nothing of it.

With the Salvation Army being called upon by more persons than usually require aid at this time of year, all persons who are circumstanced to give have a rare opportunity to broaden the field of their Christmas bounty.

Servicable articles of under and outer wear, gowns, games and toys for children, and plain substantial food are much in need among people in the community to whom the Salvation Army is the Santa Claus. In view of these things money can be given with which to provide Christmas dinner baskets for smiles who may even lack the bare essentials of a very meager meal for that as well as other days.

It should be the desire of every person in the city that Christmas day shall not pass without bringing its heartening message and substantial comfort and cheer into every home in the city. It will not so pass if we come to the aid of the Salvation Army as liberally as our hearts prompt us to do in order that this splendid and efficient dispensing agency may meet all the demands upon its resources and facilities.

PARKING REGULATIONS.
Having been favored by automobile owners themselves who, better than non-owners, appreciate the requirements of a parking ordinance, the bill introduced in council to supplement the regulations now in force, should be without objection on part of the public. If an actual test of its provisions shows that it safeguards both car owners and pedestrians.

It matters not, however, how carefully the provisions may have been drawn, or how completely they may meet conditions prevailing on the streets of the city. If the ordinance is not rigidly and impartially enforced it will fail of its purpose. It is therefore incumbent upon the neighborhood Automobile club to be insistent upon enforcement of the regulations against members no less than persons who are not so enrolled.

The public demands, and has the right to be assured, protection on the street, and car owners have the right to unnecessary inconveniences in parking and handling their cars. If the automobile themselves make it their business to curb the offenders in their own ranks both of these objects will be achieved in the largest degree.

DUNBARS' COMMUNITY CHRISTMAS TRUE.

There is every promise that in Dunbar and vicinity the Christmas spirit will prevail in the hearts of the people more generally, and perhaps more sincerely, than has ever been manifested there.

That this happy condition will exist to make the Holidays of more than ordinary significance, can very properly be said to be the outgrowth of the friendly relationship and desire to cooperate with each other which had their origin in mutual concessions and a common understanding between the American Manufacturing Company, its employees and the merchants of the town.

When some months ago the unplanned prospect of a shut-down of the principal industry loomed, the company officials and its men counseled together to consider the situation. The outcome was that the employees gave their willing assent to a reduction in wages which made it possible for the plant to continue in operation. At the same time rents for company houses were reduced and the merchants of the town consented to making a down payment on the price of food, clothing and other necessities.

All of these things were done in a spirit of give and take, and because of a recognition by the three interested groups of the necessity of working together in order to promote the welfare of all.

The incident became noteworthy as a means of assisting in the solution of some of the problems arising from the industrial and business depression. It attracted attention in all parts of the country and was given much publicity following his original publication in The Courier.

Following this initial effort to promote and maintain a feeling of genuine neighborliness among the people of the country, steps were taken to develop interest along the lines of patriotic sports for both men and women, and the Christmas season is appeaching, the ultimate of effort to make all the people realize that they do indeed have an interest in each other, and will be the happier from manifesting that interest in a practical way, a community Christmas tree is to be provided.

This is certain to be the center of attraction for both old and young, not alone because it will afford an opportunity to distribute gifts to children who might otherwise be forgotten at this glad season, but because the spirit by which the people of the Dunbar Town are and have been estimated—that they want to be real neighbors both at Christmas time and through all the year.

As certainly as the early bird gets the worm just so will the late Christmas buyer have to worm himself or herself through the evening hour crowds in the stores.

Wouldn't it be fine thing if the Dell Electric would put out the date on the Irish tray to go down to business of satisfaction and make possible the greatest Christmas ever known on the Emerald Isle!

When it comes to "adjusting some claver of freight into the Pennsylvania railroad evidently does not know that the win is over."

You can do a lot of Christmas buying in three days if you begin sufficiently early in the mornings and keep at it industriously.

CHINA IS GRATEFUL FOR FRIENDSHIP OF THE UNITED STATES

Owes Much to Our People and Influences of Church and Education.

STRIVING TO BE LIKE US

By Dr. Sia Ho Alfred Sia
Colonial Minister to the United States
(Copyright 1921 by the Federal Council of Church.)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—One of the most brilliant phases of our participation in the Conference on Limitation of Armament and Pacific Fisheries problems has been the realization that the American people are a sober body behind the aims and ideas of the conference. It is this cordial friendship of the American people and the intense desire to promote a peaceful settlement of difficulties between nations that make optimistic of the conference as an important milestone on the road to world peace.

Speaking specifically regarding the problem of China I note in the this gathering of the representatives of the four major powers in the Pacific who are in the city that Christmas day shall not pass without bringing its heartening message and substantial comfort and cheer into every home in the city. It will not so pass if we come to the aid of the Salvation Army as liberally as our hearts prompt us to do in order that this splendid and efficient dispensing agency may meet all the demands upon its resources and facilities.

It will not so pass if we come to the aid of the Salvation Army as liberally as our hearts prompt us to do in order that this splendid and efficient dispensing agency may meet all the demands upon its resources and facilities.

China has always been a peaceful nation since ancient times and now in these modern times if we are permitted to make a small contribution toward world peace, we hope in this way that we may be able to repay the American people for the mutual help toward which they have always evinced in the welfare of China.

China owes much to the people of the United States. The first truly between the United States and China made more than half a century ago was unique among documents of that time in that it needed the assistance of America to China in case our country should ever be invaded.

It is however, in the realm of education and ethics that China owes most to the American people. The return of the surplus of the American ships of the Boxer indemnity has enabled China to use this latest aid for the education of her young men and women in the institutions of learning in the United States. The products of a large group of Chinese young men and women have done much to familiarize the American people with China and her ancient culture and civilization and after they return to China they carry with them the ideals and ideals which they acquired during their residence here.

The public demands, and has the right to be assured, protection on the street, and car owners have the right to unnecessary inconveniences in parking and handling their cars. If the automobile themselves make it their business to curb the offenders in their own ranks both of these objects will be achieved in the largest degree.

K. O. Circus to Battle Here With Frankie Welty in Main Bout Monday Afternoon

Knockout Circus, "the fighting fool," of Pittsburgh, and Frankie Welty, the heavy-slitting batter of Latrobe, are the pair of fighters who will star in the 10-round main attraction of the Christmas show of the Fayette Athletic club on Monday afternoon.

Although neither boy is a champion, nor pretends to claim any title, this bout will be full of hard fighting. Circus and Welty have met before, however, fighting a six-round set-in at Mount Pleasant several years ago. At that time they drew the largest gate ever known in Westmoreland County and their first and last encounter was termed a torrid affair. Circus has never appeared in this city. Rayo has met such stellar boys as Eddie Wimber, Patsy Scanlon, Irish Cleo Rogers, Eddie Carver, Young Phinot, Johnny Fundy and many other fast boys. But Welty does not in the least fear the Pittsburgh "clown." Frankie has shown but twice before the local club and in each instance made a big impression on the fans through his hard punching and general all-around battling.

This bout will be a hard fought one. There being no doubt about that. But as strong as it is, Matchmaker Duke Barry has also signed Johnny Fundy, the A. E. F. feather-weight champion to appear in the semi-final contest. No opponent has been secured for Fundy as yet, but the fans can rest assured he will be called upon to meet a tough opponent.

The show begins to loom up as an attractive Christmas treat for the fight fan, to whom an afternoon with a good battle royal arranged, a hard 10-round mill to be fought and two other bouts yet to be announced.

Methodists and Bakers Win in Y. M. C. A. League

The Methodist Episcopal church team tied the Baltimore & Ohio Clerks for first place in the Y. M. C. A. league last night by winning 43-21. The Methodists greatly outplayed the railroad aggregation, scoring 11 field goals to two for the Clerks.

The Baptists put up a stiff fight against the Fayette Baking company team, finally losing by the score of 29-21. Each team made the same number of field goals but ability to shoot foul won for the Bakers. That team also had more opportunities, however. The lineups:

Methodists—43.	Clerks—21.
Crawford F.	Evans F.
R. Engelska F.	Penn C.
Sherick C.	Snell G.
Fisher G.	Hannigan G.
Henry G.	Panzella G.
Field goals—R. Engelska, 8; Henry, 2; Evans, 2; Sherick, 1.
Foul goals—Evans, 2 out of 5; Penn, 15 out of 27; Sherick, 20 out of 31; Henry, 1 out of 5.

Fayette Bakers—29.	Baptists—24.
H. Newcomer F.	Kreger F.
Sopp F.	Wetherell C.
J. Newcomer C.	Perry C.
McQuade G.	Ball G.
Sullivan G.	Cornelius G.
Field goals—Cornelius, 5; Newcomer, 4; Sopp, 5; Perry, 3; Wetherell, 1.
Foul goals—Wetherell, 1 out of 3; Cornelius, 6 out of 12; Sullivan, 11 out of 30.

GREASE ON SEATS OF PANTS

Difference Between College Rowing of Today and Years Ago Told by Philadelphian.

"We wore long, white canvas pants and we smeared chick grease on the seat of them," Ethigham R. Morris, president of the Girard Trust company of Philadelphia, was speaking in connection with the opening of the University of Pennsylvania's new boathouse along "Boutonhouse Row."

He told of the difference between college rowing these days and years ago.

"There were no sliding seats in those days," said Mr. Morris, "so we did the best we could. We greased the seats of the boat, besides the seats of our pants. Hip pockets made convenient grease cuts."

"We were a sight as compared to your modern crews. Besides the white pants, we wore blue shirts and straw hats. On the hats were long streamers which floated prettily in the breeze when we got up speed."

PLENTY LIKE HIM.

"That man never does a thing around this office for all his hurrying and fussing."

"I know it, but he carries the biggest bunch of keys of anybody here, and when he hurries they jingle and it's very impressive. Bluff is what gets you by, anyhow, these days. Didn't you know that?"

St. Vincent And Caseys Play Tonight

The Casey club will play the St. Vincent college team at the parochial school ball tonight. The game is becoming the annual event of the Christmas holidays.

As many of the college basketball quintet are residents of either this city or nearby places efforts are always made to arrange games with local basketball teams. Last year the two clubs played several fine contests.

The game will be the second of the season for the Caseys. The opener of the year resulted in a defeat at the hands of Dick Guy's Pittsburgh Colligians, which outfit was already in prime form.

Drawbacks of Amateur.

Being an amateur champion is expensive. The public little realizes the sacrifices a man must make.

Take tennis, for example. Bill Tilden, the champ, is on the go all year round, either in matches or in training. Summers in the east, winters in California or on eastern indoor courts.

Which explains Bill's announced intention of quitting. He's getting along in years and wants to settle down to business.

Business and amateur championships don't mix.

GOT HIS FIRST GOLF CLUB FOR CHRISTMAS

Famous Amateur Player Tells of Youthful Experiences.

Chick Evans When Eight Years Old Received His First Introduction to Ancient Game—His First Choice Was Clock.

"It was on Christmas day, 1908, that I received my first golf club," said Chick Evans recently. "It was a clock—a gift from my father—and I was not at all surprised to receive it. He had asked me jokingly what I would like to have. I am sure that he knew without being told, but he wanted to hear from me. Without hesitation I said, 'a golf club.' He then asked me what kind, and I told him that I would think about it. That meant that I would seek expert advice. It was an important question, for if a fellow has only one club it is destined to various uses and must be chosen because of its adaptability. Therefore I asked all of the big boys who played golf and as many of the men golfers who seemed approachable as to the best club for a small boy who could have a clock, and clock it was. I wonder if the same group of individuals would be so unanimous in the choice now.

"I was then eight years old, and the previous autumn I had received my first introduction to golf. The family had moved out to Rogers Park, and shortly afterwards, in the order in which I mention them, I had seen my first golf ball, my first golf course, and my first golf club, and it was not many weeks more before I had got through my first round of edifying. I had been mightily charmed by this first glimpse of a new sport.

"Before I received my club I had already obtained a few golf balls. My nearest approach to a golf stroke, however, was an attempt to push the ball into a hole with a stick broken from any handy tree. This makeshift was ended by the gift of the club.

"I spent that Christmas day practicing in the house, in the frozen garden. In the street, I nearly wrecked the place, and I suppose I was a pest to life and limb in the street, but it was a blissful day and lived in the clearest memory. It foretold a wonderful year."

HEILMANN BAD-BALL HITTER.

Bangs Into Them on Inside or Out, High or Low—Most Poor Odds Are Easy to Hit.

Harry Heilmann, leading batter of the American league, is a bad-ball hitter.

He goes after them on the inside, high, low.

But he hits enough of them to make him the best hitter in either major league circuit by several points above .400.

It is estimated Heilmann can't have drawn at least fifty bases on balls if he were not so eager to step up to a ball and drive it out.

But Heilmann doesn't wait 'em out. He bangs away at them. He has found that it pays. Most bad balls are cripples—easy to hit.

Question: Are many hitters making a mistake by being too critical in looking balls over as they front plate-wards?

Heilmann's record shows they are,

PITCHED FIRST CURVED BALL

John Stanchfield, Student at Amherst, Demonstrated Professor of Physics Was Wrong.

John B. Stanchfield, the noted lawyer, who died recently in New York city, always enjoyed telling how he developed the art of pitching a curved ball, observed the Detroit News. Stanchfield was graduated from Amherst in 1878, and served as a pitcher on the college nine. The tale he best liked to relate had to do with a classroom lecture of a professor of physics, who used complicated mathematical formula to show that a sphere buried into space would finally curve in a horizontal plane without violating the laws of physics, which was only another term for the laws of nature, and such violations did not occur. The student spoke up. He admitted that the demonstration was excellent, but he claimed that he could throw a curve. That afternoon the professor stood behind the catcher on the ball ground and watched a baseball plumb again and again into the hands of the catcher after having rounded the end of a wall. The demonstration was complete and that Amherst college incident had much to do with starting the craze for curved pitching that soon covered the whole country.

George Bernard Shaw is reported as saying, in regard to Babe Ruth: "Never heard of her." Perhaps Shaw has nothing on Ruth.

NEW TREATMENT FREES LEPROS

Chaulmoogra Oil Proves Success as a Remedy.

CURES IN JAPAN ARE CITED

PATIENTS APPEAR TO BE NORMAL AFTER TWO MONTHS' USE OF THE DISCOVERY—JAPANESE DOCTOR ESTIMATES THAT THERE ARE 100,000 PERSONS IN JAPAN AFFLICTED WITH LEPROSY—START MADE ON CHAULMOOGRA PLANTATION IN HAWAII TO INSURE SUPPLY OF OIL.

The chaulmoogra oil treatment for leprosy, evolved by Dr. A. L. Dean, president of the University of Hawaii, has produced "remarkable results" in checking the disease in Japan, according to Dr. R. Hoyoshima, director of the medical college of the Imperial University of Kyoto, Japan, in an address at Honolulu to leading members of the Japanese community.

Doctor Hoyoshima, who is studying the latest developments in the specific, said that when report of Doctor Dean's discovery reached Japan, chaulmoogra oil was prepared at the medical department of the Kyoto university immediately and experiments were made on thirteen lepers. Two months of treatment was so effective, Doctor Hoyoshima said, that it was impossible for a layman to recognize that the patients ever had been afflicted with leprosy. He added:

"Our experiences resulted so favorably that the medical department of Kyoto university has received innumerable requests from leprosy patients to have the treatment administered to them, but our department has been unable to meet the demand. A large number of leprosy patients ask eagerly for the treatment, and this very day a great many of them are waiting for my return."

100,000 LEPROSY IN JAPAN. Doctor Hoyoshima estimated that there are 100,000 persons in Japan afflicted with leprosy. The fact that chaulmoogra oil is a curative for leprosy was known in Japan before Doctor Dean's discovery. Doctor Hoyoshima said, but the effect of taking the oil prior to Doctor Dean's experiments was so terrible that many persons preferred to suffer with leprosy rather than submit to the treatment.

A start has been made here on the chaulmoogra plantation which is intended to increase the chaulmoogra oil production in order that an adequate supply might be furnished to the territory and used in the treatment of leprosy. Two thousand chaulmoogra trees have been turned over to the territorial board of agriculture and forestry by the experimental station of the Hawaiian Sugar Planters association and the territory has raised 2,000 more. These will be planted at Wailuku, Hawaii, by Charles S. Judd, superintendent of forestry, and will be the nucleus of the plantation.

The progress of the application of the Dean's method at the Kauai leprosy station, showing that in the fourteen and a half months ended on March 15 last, 91 out of the 198 patients had been paroled on recommendation of the attending doctors that the disease had been arrested to such an extent that it no longer is considered dangerous in their cases, is reflected in a pamphlet written recently by Doctor Dean and Dr. J. T. McDonald of the United States public health service.

Development of the Cure.

The pamphlet, published by the American Medical association, said that there had been a well defined development not only in method but also in the synthetic production of the fatty acids of chaulmoogra oil.

"As has been pointed out, there is no way of demonstrating that any person has been cured absolutely of leprosy, but the ninety-four patients who have been paroled are believed to be free from the disease," the pamphlet said. "Up to the present time not one of the patients paroled since October 1, 1918, has shown a recurrence of the disease."

"It is probably to be expected that occasional cases will show recurrence and have to return for a second course of treatment. It is believed, however, that the percentage of such returns is going to be low. It would appear that we have methods in hand for holding the disease under control."

CHIEFTAIN DIED LIKE HERO

Two Arms Watched Brave Arab as He Rode Alone into the Ranks of His Enemies

Col. Thomas B. Lawrence, in the World's Work, gives this very vivid description of the death of one of his Arabian chiefs:

After some minutes Talal very slowly drew his broadsabre about his face and then seemed to take hold of himself, for he dashed his stirrups into his horse's flanks and galloped headlong, bending low in the saddle and swaying as though he would fall, straight at the mule body of the enemy. It was a long ride down the gentle slope and across the hollow, and we all sat there like stone while he rushed forward, the drumming of his horse's hoofs sounding unnaturally loud in our ears. We had stopped shooting and the Turks had stopped shooting; both armies waited for him. He flew on in that hushed evening till he was only a few lengths from the enemy. Then he sat up in his saddle and cried his war-cry, "Talal, Talal," twice in a tremendous voice. Instantly all their rifles and machine guns crashed out together and he and his mares, ridden through and through with bullets, fell dead among their lance-polls.

BRUIN HAD SENSE OF HUMOR

No Other Explanation of Animal's Taking Picture of His Enemy in Humiliating Flight.

For a long time bears have been known to be humorous, but not until a few days ago was it demonstrated that a black bear, if properly approached, will display artistic leanings, remarks a writer in the New York Sun. Somewhere in the dim lorn of brain generations there may have been bears that had artistic inclination or the subject of this story may be the advance agent of a new ultra tendency in wild life. Every supposed, however, fails to explain satisfactorily how a black bear in the wilderness of the Allegheny park could learn enough about a camera to take pictures.

Nevertheless, it is true that at least one bear knows photography, according to R. S. Craig, a forester from the New York State College of Forestry. Craig is engaged by the park commission to assist in making a study of the timber growth in the new state park. Black bears have always been plentiful in this section, where the Allegheny river winds through the mountains down to the Ohio. Craig was cruising through the forest gathering timber data. He left his camera on a log and was looking around for a good subject to snap when he discovered a big black bear browsing in some berry bushes.

Craig was surprised. He neglected to think of the camera in the concentrated effort to place distance between himself and the bruiser. He ran down the trail back to the camp and informed two companions of the presence of the black bear. The three men went back to the spot, but the bear had disappeared. The camera Craig left on the log was still where he placed it, but a plate had been exposed. This did not attract attention until the plate was developed and showed him in rapid flight down the trail.

Folklore of the Hair.

A heavy head of hair indicates few if any virtues, according to folklore gathered from many parts of the world. The Turks claim that women with short intellect have long hair. The Albanians say with glee, "Long hair, little brains." Other contributors say that much hair indicates uncontrollable temper and inclination to melancholy. "If a girl has a great deal of hair she will marry poverty, while the girl with little hair will marry rich," according to another source. Curly hair is a sign of a scold, and also early widowhood if the hair falls in little cords at the back of the neck. A long and peaceful life is promised the owner of hair that grows low on the forehead and retreats up the side or the head over the temples. Chestnut or brown hair denotes fairness in dealings, generosity, absence of deceit, but unhappiness in domestic life.

Get One Chance to Marry.

During times of Albanian feuds, which amount to tribal warfare, women attend largely to outdoor duties. Marriage is by contract; generally arranged upon the birth of a child. A woman exercises no choice, but has a veto power in respect to her husband. Should she not wish the man of her parent's arrangement, she may reject him; but, in that event, must take him to remain a virgin, assuming the status of a man, and in some regions she dons men's clothing. Should she marry another man, her rejected suitor's family must seek blood vengeance upon her male relatives—National Geographic Society Bulletin.

FEW WAR HEROES LISTED 'UNKNOWN'

"Wonderful Work Performed by Graves' Registration Corps."

KEEP RECORD OF EVERY GRAVE

Identification Work Carried Out With Thoroughness That Is Marvel of Efficiency—Number of American Dead That Have Not Been Identified Is Between 1,000 and 1,500, in Striking Contrast to Tragic Totals of Other Countries.

Amid the pomp and pageantry when it would paid homage to America's unknown soldier on Armistice day, little thought was given to the wonderful work of the army quartermaster corps in identifying thousands who fell in the great war, writes Junius H. Wood in Chicago News. The casualties of the American forces on land and sea were, roughly, 310,000. Out of that number the adjutant general's office records 77,183 as fatal and as occurring outside the borders of the United States. The "unknown" was one of these.

The cemetery division has 77,048 graves registered. Of these, 42,308 bodies have been transformed, all except a few hundred distributed to different countries in Europe, being brought to the United States. There are eight official American government cemeteries. However, there are close to 500 village burial plots in France, Belgium, Germany and other countries from which soldier dead have not been removed.

The record of the last resting place of the "unknown" before he was brought with three of his comrades to Caudrons-sur-Marne and selected for the nation's honor, is a carefully guarded secret of the War department. While he probably came from one of five large American battle-front cemeteries, it is not impossible that he came from one of the 500.

May Have Been Marine.

Figuring on the proportion of casualties in the different branches of the service, chances strongly favor the "unknown" having been a soldier. He might have been an officer and there is a stronger possibility that he was a marine. The latter branch lost many in its first bitter fight in Belleau woods and more than one grave in that cemetery is marked "Unknown American." The possibilities are smaller that he was a bluejacket from the medical corps of the marine brigade, or a soldier from some other marine's army.

The number of American dead who have not been identified is between 2,000 and 1,500. This is in striking contrast to the tragic totals of other countries, whose unidentified soon run into the hundreds of thousands. One reason for that is that at the time of the American participation the allied front was advancing and the dead usually were behind our own lines. Another reason is that the A. R. E. paid more attention to this sentimental phase of the war. I have frequently seen burial parties working under fire, digging shallow graves and carefully marking them, so that identity would not be lost when the body was removed to a permanent cemetery.

Unless the graves registration corps has been singularly careless, the identity of the "unknown" can be limited to a much smaller field than 1,500. For every grave marked "Unknown American" a record was kept of where and when the body was found on the battle front. With such a record it would be comparatively easy to determine what division, possibly what regiment, was in action at that particular spot at that time. Its number of unknown would be a small fraction of the total for the entire expedition. The possibility of the "unknown" being a straggler separated from his unit, however, would enter.

Cemeteries in France.

The A. R. E. cemeteries in Europe are:

Location	Name
Belleau Woods	Aisne-Marne
Romagne Sous Montfaucon
... ... ...	... ... ...
Moissanc	Argonne
Sainte-Suzanne	Orne
... ... ...	... ... ...
Bar le Duc (France)	Meuse
... ... ...	... ... ...
Brockwood (England)	Brookwood
Waddington (Belgium)	Flanders Field

The first five of these are known as battle front cemeteries, the one at Romagne being by far the largest.

One illustration of the thoroughness with which the identification work has been carried out is shown in the case of an aviation officer whose blazing plane fell within the enemy's lines. He was buried without identification marks, and the grave not found by the Americans until after the armistice. A laundry mark and the tag of a Rochester (N. Y.) uniform maker was the only clew. The uniform manufacturer was given the data and requested to co-operate. He sent 800 letters to tailors. Several replied that they had sold uniforms to officers with those initials. The divisions near those cities were checked up. One Meader was in Texas near an aviation field, and by cross-checking the aviators squadrons flying over the sector where the body was found the officer was identified.

The graves' registration corps was organized by Col. Charles C. Moore, a former Bristol recto in Philadelphia, who continued at his head until his sudden death in Tours, France.

"Three weeks after the death of his wife, Col. George H. Pennington, nephew of the senator, succeeded him. E. E. Davis continuing in charge of the detailed work.

American Los in London Gets Back to Hotel by Mail

Walking into a post office in the East End of London recently, a newspaper reports, an American visitor said: "I'm lost. I want to get back to my hotel in the West End. Can you help me?"

The girl behind the counter replied: "We can send you by post." "Post?" echoed the man in astonishment.

"It's quite simple," the girl rejoined.

"Your name and address, please? You will be sent by express letter post immediately. The charge is dispensed a rate."

She "handed over" the lost tourist to a small messenger boy and the two set out arm-in-arm for the American hotel.

The American is not the first person to be "posted" in this way. Last year the same newspaper sent by post a member of its reporting staff to a destination some miles out of London with the object of calling attention to the fact that the British postal authorities do accept human beings as "correspondence."

The first five of these are known as battle front cemeteries, the one at Romagne being by far the largest.

FOR WINTER WEAR

New Fashions Have Been Absorbed for the Season.

Exaggerations Are Subdued and Simplified, Melding Into Pleasing and Artistic Types.

All the new influences toward winter fashions have now been absorbed and become parts of the composite 1921 style. Paris, writes a fashion authority, is making and wearing its mid-season clothes. It is surprising to see how subdued and simplified all of the exaggerations have become.

One of the Latest Paris Suits.

They have melted into the general outline in a way so artistic that they leave one wondering just where they started or whether they have not always belonged in the composition.

A Lanvin suit shows the development of the suit and the direction in which its cut is tending. After the manner of the straight-lined gowns, the coat has that fullness at the hips which gives it a silhouette that is just a bit wider than those which we have been accustomed to see. And the waistline is only a trifle lower than a normal one.

Even about the skirt there is not length enough to make it so decidedly different that it need require an effort to accept it after what we have been having.

Some fashion experts think that the suit will be one of the popular spring notes. It has been seen completely disregarded this winter as anything resembling dress wear that we will be in a position to welcome it back, should the ways of fashion turn in that direction. This new suit promises to be of tweed, but of the finer, more delicate fabric, as exemplified by this example of Lanvin's, made of beige velours de laine, in its very soft, pliable quality.

TO MAKE PRETTY LAMP SHADE

Wire Frame Should Be Covered With Soft Silk; Chinese Embroidery Is Needed.

A beautiful lamp shade, simple of construction, can be made by any woman who enjoys making lovely things for the home. The wire frame is prettily covered with soft, old gold silk—three thicknesses of the thin China silk is sufficient. To give a particularly soft and rosy light make the middle thickness of rose colored silk. The shade will then give an old gold appearance, but the light will be slightly modified by the layer of rose colored silk. Then on the shade are placed four lengths of narrow Chinese embroidery—a little over an inch wide. It is that sort of strip embroidery done on silk with the edges turned in, worked in blue and white and gold. These strips are caught at the top of the shade under the gilt binding and at the bottom they are bound in a point with gilt braid and end in tassels.

SACHET CASE IS NICE GIFT

Dainty Article Suitable for Christmas Season May Be Pinned to Lining of the Hat

A set of sachet cases that may be slipped into the lining of a dainty rock, or pinned, by its accompanying tiny gold safety pin, to the lining of the dainty girl's hat, are always acceptable accessories.

Varying shades, such as violet, green, salmon, blue and lemon, make a dainty combination of colors to begin with. Small ends of ribbon may be utilized for their making or odd bits of satin. The ribbon is folded once, to form a rectangle about three inches in length, and stitched together at the sides. A strip of flat wadding is sprinkled with the sachet powder, inserted into the flat ribbon case and the top stitched close with very small silk stitches. A tiny gold safety pin may be caught into the top of each so that the little sachet case is ready for wardrobe use at once.

Real Trouble.
"It's come at last," sobbed the lovely bride of a mouth—"the first quarter."

"What—with your husband?" inquired her pitying friend.
"Worse," she faltered, raising her tear-stained face, "much worse—with the cook!"

Red Much Worm,
Red is the color most often seen these days of winter hats. Red feathers trim duck hats and red salts red dresses are worn.

SNAKE LIKES TREATMENT

Reptile Comes Back Each Day to Have Wound Dressed.

Boy scouts stopping at Camp Matinecock, the Queensboro boy scout camp, a short distance from Tuxedo, N. Y., are taking particular interest these days in the activities of a two-foot garter snake that was captured and liberated a few days ago after being badly injured during the encounter with the lad that brought it to camp.

The snake sustained a severe cut on the back, and the scouts, believing that the creature was going to die, brought it to Edwin A. Osborne of Richmond Hill, the camp herpetologist, who applied an antiseptic wash and let the snake go. The next day the reptile was found a short distance from camp and brought back, when a second treatment was tendered. For three days the snake has returned for its treatment, and from all indications the wound will be healed before long.

DEED FOR A SMALL BOY

Woman Transfers Little One to Another by Warranty Document.

A warranty deed, formally transferring ownership of a small boy from one woman to another, has been placed on record at Tampa, Fla.

The deed shows that the transaction took place last January in Hardin county, Texas. Mrs. Nettie Davis, leaving her three-months-old son to Mrs. Norma L. Wilson, Mrs. Wilson recently moved to Tampa, and had the deed recorded to prove her ownership.

Court house officials express the opinion that the deed is illegal, in that it is unfair to the child and deprives him of the rights of heritage, as provided in papers of adoption. In the event of the death of Mrs. Wilson before the boy is of age, officials said, he would pass as a chattel and become part of the estate, if the transaction was held legal.

WILL HELP TO REBUILD RUSSIA

Trained American Workers to Be Sent to Restore Industries.

SEE CHANCE TO HELP TRADE

Doz. Groups of Men Headed by Experts, Equipped With Latest Machinery, Being Organized for Service in Soviet Russia—Most of the Workers Are Russian Immigrants Who Have Become Skilled in Their Several Lines in the United States.

More than a dozen groups of workmen trained in American industries headed by experts and fully equipped with the latest machinery are preparing to go soon to aid in the industrial rehabilitation of soviet Russia.

The Society for Technical Aid to Soviet Russia which is organizing these units, announced that it already has sent to Russia clothing workers, machinists, builders, tool and die workers. Most of these workers were Russian immigrants who had become skilled here.

The society an organization of Russians has its central bureau in New York, headed by Fedor P. Wilga. It claims a membership of 10,000 throughout the United States and Canada and publishes a semi-monthly technical magazine to acquaint its members with modern methods of production in America and their application in soviet Russia.

Not Soviet Agents

Officials of the society claim that the aim of their organization is to bring the people of the United States and soviet Russia into closer relations for the mutual benefit of the two countries.

The society denied it was acting as agents for soviet Russia and declared that its activities were absolutely non-political and confined strictly to organizing technical forces.

"We are not soliciting members nor do we encourage them to go to soviet Russia at present," said a statement issued by the society.

"Only those brave and energetic workers who, regardless of conditions at present existing in soviet Russia are willing and ready to go there as soon as possible to help build the Russian republic are accepted as members of units that we are organizing to be sent to soviet Russia."

Bond Trained Men

"We are organizing our units in such a way that upon their arrival in soviet Russia they will be able to run on their own initiative under their own supervision all kinds of factories ships mines and farms."

The society said that the following units fully equipped with the latest machinery will leave in the near future for Russia. Two units of shop making workers, two units of clothing workers, three units of construction workers, one unit of foundry workers of chilled cast iron wheels for railway cars and locomotives, several groups of electrical and mechanical welders, automobile and traction units, five agricultural groups fully equipped with tractors and all modern power machinery and several others.

All of these units sent to Russia being disseminated in various parts of that vast country, said the society, will serve as pioneers for American trade in mechanics tools and certain raw materials obtainable in the United States and Canada."

INVENTS "WEIGHT MOTOR"

Illinois Man Perfects Machine That Parries Present Motive Power
Gasoline and waterpower would largely follow the horse into decline if a means of motive power like the invention of a Springfield (Ill.) man A. T. Markwood contains all the qualities he claims for it.

First actual test of his "weight motor" has been set for this month when a commissioner from the United States patent office comes here to re-patent it.

Weight of iron balls supplies the force in the invention upon which Sir Markwood says he has worked twenty-five years.

Sixteen balls of 188 pounds each equip the model he has prepared for the demonstration. Two of these units, he claims, would suffice to provide all the electricity produced by the Springfield (Ill.) Electric company's light and power plant.

The idea finds similarity in the over-shot water-wheel. Iron balls replace the water fall, forcing around huge iron spokes. Sufficient energy is generated by the fall of one ball to lift several spent balls back to the elevated track and thus the motor continues to move.

Eventually Sir Markwood declares there will be small replicas of his huge model in many homes. Small iron balls the size of a croquet ball will equip a generator the size of a phonograph and the electricity therfrom will light houses, run washing machines, provide heat and recharge the family automobile he prophesies.

Literary Lid Is Off
Some of our story writers are running riot with their smiles. Here are a few we gathered in our late reading.

"Her lips quivered like a light flame."

"He edged nearer to her until he was almost as close as the air in the subway."

"But his mind like her face was made up."

"Her hair dropped on her pallid cheek like seaweed on a clam."

"He gazed anxiously at her face as though a person in a taxi gazed at the face of the rooster"—Boston Transcript.

Motor Cars Cut Chubbing in Half.
Church attendance is being cut 60 per cent, the crime rate is being raised, and many narrow streets made death traps by automobiles according to John F. Boyer, a justice of the peace of Chicago.

WOMAN HOLDS OFFICE 60 YEARS, THEN QUIT

Serves as Postmistress or Assistant Since 1862 in Pennsylvania Town.

Postmistress or assistant nearly 60 years at Center Bridge a little village in Pennsylvania, Mrs. Jacob W. Lowby has resigned because of failing health. There being no applicants for the vacancy, the government has closed the office and made arrangements for its patrons to get postal service through the post office at Stockton.

Mrs. Lowby's connection with the Center Bridge post office began about 1862 when her husband was appointed postmaster and she became his assistant. The office was in their country store at the Pennsylvania end of the Delaware river bridge.

He was postmaster until President Cleveland's first term and a few years later was restored to the office. When he died about 25 years ago his wife was made postmistress.

When she saw her reputation for honesty well made to have Mrs. Lowby reconsider it, but she announced that the condition of her health would not permit her to keep up the work. On July 1st her long service sets a record for women in the postal service.

OLD WOMAN WORKS IN GANG

Helps Repair Trolley Tracks, So Service May Be Resumed

Mrs. Laura M. Sutherland, sixty-seven years of age, wife of a Grand Army veteran and mother of three children, all married, took pick and shovel and joined a gang of Italian workmen the other day when they commenced repairs on a street railway track in North San Jose, Mass., so that service may be resumed. Mrs. Sutherland remained on the job until 5 o'clock in the afternoon and when she wished to do her bit so hard done in the neighborhood may have trolley car tracks restored quickly.

I hope I will be able to put the trolley on the wire in I start the first car when service is resumed and have all my neighbors as passengers," Miss Sutherland said. The public trustees of the railway suspended work because it was a portion of the line which did not produce revenue enough to pay for operating.

SAVED BY CHICKENS

Mortgaged on Farms Are Paid Off by Their Efforts

Hundreds of chickens of the feather variety—not counting such salt according to farm agents of several counties who in Indianapolis recently lauded chickens should be killed and eaten the season declined.

While the stockyards corporations are shouting at the farmer to hold his live stock and the farmer driving a beaver market when he does ship it in the barnyard hen has come to the rescue of the farmer. Chickens are the 11th mortgage masters' in Kansas the country men said.

Statistics show that the live production in Kansas has increased fully one-third in the last two years.

But farmers who feel lazy here are working a hard day's life commercial flocks and will say hundreds of dollars be gotten out of them the country agents concur.

PEPTO-MANGAN KEEPS BLOOD PURE

Growing Children Need Plenty of Red Cells in Blood.

When the young body is growing children frequently experience weakness. Girls and boys sometimes play too hard and over-tax their systems. They become pale, weak and sickly. They lose their appetites, become languid, and are not able to make progress in school work. "Growing too fast" is often true. It is most important to keep the blood of growing girls and boys in a healthy state.

Pepto-Mangan keeps the blood pure. The red cells in the blood are increased. They carry life-giving oxygen to all parts of the body, and wholesome youthfulness blooms again in clear complexions, bright eyes and buoyant spirits. Sold both in liquid and tablet form by druggists everywhere. The name "Guide's Pepto-Mangan" is on the package. Advertisements.

LARGEST KNOWN FOSSIL BONE

Discovery Made in Northern New Mexico is Interesting for More Than One Reason.

The largest shoulder blade of any animal or record, ancient or modern, has been discovered in San Juan basin in northern New Mexico by John B. Reedie, Jr., of the United States geological survey. This saurian bone is part of an immense extinct dinosaur estimated to be over one hundred feet long and markedly larger than any previously known to have existed.

Charles E. Gilmore of the National museum in Washington has assembled the collection of pieces of this fossil saurian and has found that the total length of the bone is more than five feet, nearly as tall as a man. This is five times the length of the shoulder blade of a cow or bovine.

The large fossil was found in the part of the earth that was deposited and formed in the Upper Cretaceous era and this indicates to the geologist that the dinosaur lived at a later geological time than they had previously supposed. This fact has created interest in geological circles due to the size of the fossil.

Dinosaurs were large reptiles with long necks, little heads and brains, and long tails. These bodies took somewhat like that of an oversized elephant with hind legs longer than fore legs. They dominated the earth for the days when the limestone beds were bald, but for some reason disappeared from the earth to give place to smaller and livelier animals.

Insuperable Difficulty.

Bridget—Individually, ma'am, I did try, but the stove went out.
